North Viets Use Own Troops for Bait

SAIGON — North Vietnamese have used their own troops as bait Friday in a battle near Dak To in the central highlands. In the fighting, U.S. 4th Division troops were forced to withdraw from a hill by withering fire from the entrenched enemy. After the withdrawal, artillery, fighter-bombers and helicopter gunships hammered at the entrenched North Vietnamese. The North Vietnamese exposed live troops in a valley to lure one helicopter gunship in, then opened up on it from covered positions on the high ground on both sides. The helicopter was shot down and three crewmen were injured in the crash. The fight was one of two separate clashes with North Vietnamese near Dak To, 280 miles northeast of Saigon. Otherwise, wind-driven rain from a dying typhoon brought the war to a standstill in a broad belt of South Vietnam.

Nazi Leaders Stir Up Party

HANOVER, Germany — Former Nazi party leaders whipped 1,000 delegates to the right wing National Democratic Party convention to a roaring, foot-stomping frenzy Friday. Acting chairman Wilhelm Guttman, a Hitler era party orator, opened the convention to thunderous applause and foot-stomping cheers when he told the delegates: "You are heralds of the will of the NPD in these times of shallow political activity and confused helplessness. You are all-German conscience in the eyes of the world." Anti-Nazi demonstrators held a rain-soaked protest rally in another section of the city calling the right wing party leaders "criminal idiots who once ruled and must be stopped."

Hussein Explanation Demanded

BEIRUT, Lebanon — Syria demanded Friday an "official explanation" for statements made by King Hussein of Jordan that Arab states must recognize Israel as a "fact of life." The official Syrian Arab News Agency said Jordanian Ambassador Subhi Abu Ghanime was summoned to the Syrian foreign ministry and told that Hussein does not speak for Syria. Syria and Algeria are the most militant of the Arab states, demanding that Israel be obliterated. The agency reiterated Syria's policy that only "armed struggle" can erase Israel's June victories and liberate Palestine. Syria has asked Jordan for full texts of Hussein's recent statements in the United States.

Skirts, Sex Crimes on Rise

TOKYO — As skirts have gone up so has the number of sex crimes in Tokyo, according to a report Friday by the police. Although only a small percentage of Japanese women seen on the streets appeared with hemlines above the kneecap, the police compilation showed that the number of sex crimes has doubled since the vogue for short skirts arrived here. Furthermore, according to the report, this year there has not been the usual decrease in sex crimes as summer drew to a close. Instead, it said, the rate is still going up.

National

UAW Board Urges Contract Approval

DETROIT — The United Auto Workers International executive board Friday night unanimously recommended the union's Chrysler Council approve the new national contract with Chrysler Corp. when it meets here today. Despite the approval, disputes between UAW locals and individual Chrysler plants idled more than 37,000 workers Friday. There was some hope expressed that the walkouts would end as union leaders worked hard to get their rebellious members back on the job by Monday. Meanwhile, more than 1,700 United Auto Workers' members voted Friday to end their walkout at the Chrysler Corp. assembly plant in Maywood, Calif. Don Gezzi, president of local 230 of the UAW, said the employees would report back to work Monday. The plant's personnel went on strike Wednesday just hours before their union reached a national agreement with the auto firm.

McCarthy Weighs LBJ Challenge

ANN ARBOR, Mich. — Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota said Friday if he decides to enter the Democratic presidential primaries "it would be in a serious role to beat President Johnson." He said a peace candidate to oppose Johnson in the 1968 election campaign would do both the Democratic party and the country nothing but good. McCarthy, who lately has come to the fore as a critic of the President's Vietnam policies, denied he has definitely decided to enter several primaries, including California's "I am still thinking about them, but I have not quite made up my mind," he said.

Bigger Tax Hike Warned

WASHINGTON — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield warned Congress Friday that it might have to pass an election-year tax increase in 1968 even bigger than that 10 per cent boost it has refused to give President Johnson. Mansfield expressed no hope, however, that the President's tax request would get any further this year than the House Ways and Means Committee, where it has been shelved in a dispute with the White House over reduced federal spending.

Gas Fills Town's Sewers

GRANTSVILLE, Md. — Gasoline leaked from a state roads commission tanker truck into the sewer lines of this Western Maryland community Friday, causing one explosion, the evacuation of homes and a no-smoking order by State Police. No one was hurt in the explosion. Some 1,200 gallons leaked into the lines from a parked tanker truck, which was later found inside a locked shed with its valve open. Three fire companies worked feverishly to flush the sewer lines of the community, which has a population of 365 persons.

Connally to Bow Out in Texas

AUSTIN, Tex. — Because he could not convince himself that he has the enthusiasm, the resilience and the patience the job demands, Gov. John B. Connally decided Friday not to seek an unprecedented fourth two-year term. He said last week that his close friend, President Johnson, had not asked him to run.

PEOPLE IN THE NEWS

Mud Flies in Shirley's Race

Combined News Services

The election contest among Shirley Temple Black and 11 male candidates for congress has escalated into a heated battle, with smear charges and an implied death threat.

A .38-caliber bullet, packed between matches, was mailed to the headquarters of William H. Draper, one of the four Republican candidates.

An aide said the device, rigged up so it could go off if struck by a metal letter opener, was an "implied death threat."

Another GOP hopeful, Paul N. McCloskey, fired off charges that Mrs. Black, the former moppet Hollywood heroine, was engaging in a "last minute smear attempt" against him and had "preached fear, hate and anger."

McCloskey asked the Fair Campaign Practices Committee to investigate the alleged smear. He accused the Shirley Temple forces of making him out a friend of Red China. Mrs. Black's office promptly declared the statements attributed to her opponent were documented.

Mrs. Black also snapped at all three Republican males in the contest, telling them to quit edging into her spotlight and "get on with their own campaigns."

THEIR SHARE

Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., said in Los Angeles Friday that Mexican-Americans are carrying more than their share of the burden in Southeast Asia.

About 20 per cent of U.S. forces serving in Vietnam are of Mexican-American descent while Mexican-Americans represent only about 10 per cent of the total U.S. population, he said in a television interview.

Kennedy arrived in L.A. Thursday night for a "personal visit" and held a breakfast meeting with members of the United Mexican-American Students Organization from several colleges and universities.

Kennedy and his wife left shortly after the interview for Palm Springs.

BILL FOR DICK

William F. Buckley Jr. of New York City, a political conservative, said Friday in Los Angeles he will support Richard Nixon for the Republican presidential nomination in 1968.

If the nomination should go to Gov. Ronald Reagan of California, Buckley said he would back Reagan.

Buckley writes a syndicated column, "On The Right," and hosts a television interview show.

GOP GIFT

Gov. and Mrs. Ronald Reagan got their very own elephant Friday, the gift of exiled royalty.

"Isn't she cute!" exclaimed Mrs. Reagan, as she and her 9-year old son Skipper were introduced to the 15-month-old, 350-pound elephant in a corral at the Land Park Zoo.

The Reagans named the elephant Gop rhymes with mop, after GOP—the Republican, or Grand Old Party, of which the elephant is the symbol.

Gop was the gift of Leka, son of the late exiled King Zog of Albania.

NOT 'FIRED'

The Mother General of the Order of Immaculate Heart Sisters Friday denied published reports that James Francis Cardinal McIntyre had "fired" the order's Nuns as teachers in Los Angeles Parochial schools.

Sister Anita Caspary conceded, however, that requests by the Nuns were being negotiated with diocese authorities.

She also said that if mutual agreements cannot be reached "we will be forced to withdraw from such schools rather than perform a disservice to their students."

PALE, TIRED

Looking pale and tired, Mrs. John F. Kennedy flew homeward today after 10 days of viewing splendors of the Oriental past and Southeast Asian modern life as a guest of royalty in Thailand and Cambodia.

Her visit to two realms affected in different degrees by the nearby Vietnam war was scored unofficially as a clear personal triumph, and it may have diplomatic significance as well.

Mrs. Kennedy's tour was described as nonpolitical but in both countries she was welcomed with ceremony usually reserved for state visitors.

Prince Norodom Sihanouk, Cambodia's chief of state, told newsmen that Mrs. Kennedy had brought up the subject of American airmen held in North Vietnam and that he had told her Cambodia was always willing to act as intermediary in the release of prisoners.

Singer Rosemary Clooney has failed in an attempt to force her former husband, actor Jose Ferrer, to increase support payments for their five children.

Santa Monica Superior Court judge Edward R. Brand refused to declare Ferrer, 55, in contempt of court.

Miss Clooney, 38, claimed Ferrer uses part of his $1,500 monthly child support payments for mortgage payments on the family home.

Ferrer is starring on Broadway in "Man of La Mancha."

IN GOES HAY, OUT COME THE PROFITS

BURLINGTON, Vt. (AP)—Cows rank first and second as the top manufacturers in Vermont. Their major product is milk, but the University of Vermont says manure is a close second.

The university says cows contribute about $7 million a year to the state's economy through manure. A farmer with a herd of 40 cows can collect about $1,500 worth of manure during the barn season alone, the university said.

RARE VISIT

British actor Richard Burton and his wife, actress Elizabeth Taylor, arrived in New York Friday from Rome on their first visit to the United States in about two years.

They will remain in New York until Tuesday, visiting his daughter by a previous marriage, 11-year-old Kate Burton, who lives with her mother and attends a private school in New York.

The Burtons will fly to Los Angeles Tuesday night for a two-day visit with Miss Taylor's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Taylor.

INVITATIONS

Wedding invitations will go out this weekend to some 500 friends and relatives of the President's daughter, Lynda Bird Johnson, and her fiance, Marine Capt. Charles Spittal Robb, who will be married Dec. 9 in the White House East Room.

Invitations to the Episcopal ceremony are printed on ecru white paper, engraved in hand-cut script. They feature the presidential coat of arms embossed at the center top and the words "The White House" embossed in gold in the upper left-hand corner of the outer envelope.

Mrs. Johnson's pet project, beautification, gets a plug on the invitations. The "Plant for a More Beautiful America" stamp, showing the Thomas Jefferson Memorial in the background, is being used for mailing.

CHIEF TREATED

Commander in Chief of the U.S. Pacific Fleet, Adm. Roy L. Johnson, 61, was in Tripler Army Medical Center Honolulu, Friday and expected to be hospitalized for several days for treatment of a gastrointestinal ulcer.

Johnson, commander of the Pacific Fleet since 1965, directs naval operations for the entire Pacific area from his Pearl Harbor headquarters.

BICKFORD RITES

Private funeral services were held Friday in Santa Monica for gravel-voiced actor Charles Bickford, the gruff but kindly patriarch of "The Virginian" television series.

The rites, attended only by members of the family, were conducted at Woodland Cemetery. His remains were cremated and buried.

Bickford died Thursday night at age 77 of emphysema compounded by other illnesses.

Board to Ask for Economic Integration

By RALPH HINMAN JR.
Education Editor

The state Board of Education Friday decided to ask the 1968 legislature for a law requiring every California school district to integrate itself along racial and economic lines.

Dr. Fred Balderston, chairman of the blue ribbon State Committee on Public Education (SCOPE), recommended the move during a report to the board, meeting in Los Angeles.

It was agreed upon by members without a formal vote being taken when board president Dorman L. Commons asked, "Isn't this what we want?"

Dr. Max Rafferty, state school superintendent, immediately volunteered to write the proposed law, which also would require a target date for compliance by individual districts.

Commons' view that local school districts should make their own integration plans rather than have them dictated by the state was concurred in by the board.

Emphasis will be given in the proposed law to "socio-economic segregation," an idea brought to the board in reports made by SCOPE members and consultants.

Balderston, University of California, Berkeley vice president-finance, introduced the economic aspect when he said:

"The problems are of long-term nature requiring active, serious, consistent efforts to improve the educational experience for every child, rich or poor, in the state."

It was carried further by SCOPE consultant Dr. Alan Wilson, education professor at Berkeley, who said "There is growing evidence students (of all races) from depressed socio-economic backgrounds have significantly lower academic standards. This is the prevailing pattern in California and across the nation."

HE NOTED "teachers of the poor are less happy, less well trained than those of the well-to-do — who are fleeing to the suburbs."

Rafferty countered that "cold, hard cash" might be the answer for slum teacher recruiting.

Harvard sociologist, Dr. Thomas Pettigrew, who specializes in Negro educational problems, told the board "children of all backgrounds do better in middle-class schools . . . and academic achievement stems from the education and income of the parents."

"Achievement scores of Negro children rise only when classes they attend are predominately white," he said. "There are no gains in classes less than half white in composition."

Bear-Mauled Torrance Man Feels Better

A Torrance man clawed, bitten and mauled by a bear near Glacier National Park was in satisfactory condition in Whitefish Memorial Hospital in Montana late Friday.

Robert Gilmore, 47, 602 W. 214th St., saved by two hunting companions who shot and killed the bear, was "sitting up and able to eat" Friday, according to his doctor, R. D. Buchanan.

FIGHTING LADY READY Yorktown's Pennants to Salute Veterans

By VINT MADER

As the grand old Fighting Lady readies for a new debut, she is taking a weekend in Long Beach that will include rededication to her many tasks in freedom's defense.

The aircraft carrier USS Yorktown is in her homeport between phases of a rigorous working-up that will eventually return her to a familiar role in the far Pacific.

While the many busy preparations go on, the ship will be the scene at 9:30 a.m. Sunday of a special Veterans Day service attended by American Legion Navy veterans of the area and their families.

The service will be led by Cmdr. Robert Foelker, Protestant chaplain to the 2,700 officers and men of the famed carrier.

The chaplain will preach a sermon reaffirming devotion to the principles of freedom, and the service will feature hymns on patriotic themes and will close with Cmdr. Foelker's "Litany of Dedication to God and Country."

Battle-wise veteran of World War II, plus the Korean War and Vietnam, the Yorktown has been working up to a peak of combat readiness since she came out of a seven-month major overhaul at the Long Beach Naval Shipyard about a month ago.

Monday, the "Lady" will put to sea again to continue the operations with her air group for the first time since the overhaul. Equivalent to almost four squadrons, the aircraft come under command of Rear Adm. Ralph Weymouth, commander of Antisubmarine Warfare Group 1.

Commanding officer of the 41,000-ton carrier is Capt. William L. Bennett Jr., who was commissioned an ensign out of the Naval Academy in 1943, the same year as pennants were hoisted on the Yorktown for the first time.

The fighting lady, in mothballs from 1946 until she was recommissioned for Korea in 1950, became the Navy's first carrier to be fitted with an angled flight deck, whose extra runway jutting outside from the ship's side permits landing and launching operations simultaneously.

LBJ Blasts Critics in Speech at El Toro line of freedom. On this field, too, are the men who will follow them."

About 75 per cent of the 7,000 Marines on hand have been in Vietnam, according to El Toro's director of personnel, Col. William J. Sims.

"There are times," said Johnson, "when a President feels inadequate and never more so than when he looks into the faces of the men who, by their courage, made possible all that we possess in America."

"WITHOUT YOUR heroism, without your skill, without your dedication and willingness to sacrifice, there would be no freedom, no security in America and no hope for peace in the world."

After his short talk, the President walked back to the area where Marine dependents were stationed and visited with them person-to-person before boarding his helicopter and taking off at 12:59 p.m. for Camp Pendleton.

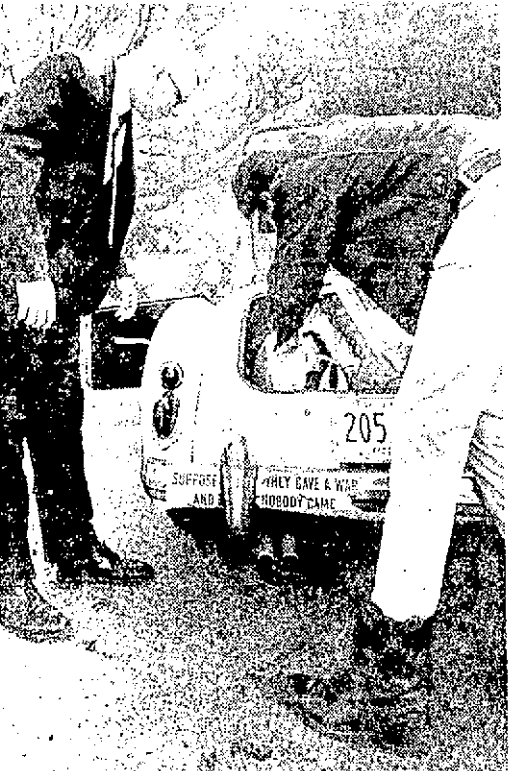

His plane had touched down at the El Toro strip at 12:26 p.m. The President stepped out of the plane at 12:34 to cheers of the civilian portion of the audience and to the Marine band's "Hail to the Chief."

There was a homey flavor to Texas Johnson's greeting to the front rank of Vietnam returnees. In succession the men introduced themselves: Sgt. J. Torres Jr., 26, Harlingen, Tex.; Pvt. M. E. Summers, 24, San Antonio; Pfc. I. C. Summers, 25, Brownfield, Tex.; and Lance Corp. T. L. Steward, 21, Houston.

IT WASN'T all Texas in the line, however. Others Johnson greeted were: Sgt. J. P. Spurlock, 25, Louisa, Ky.; Corp. J. A. Bialk, 24, Detroit; Pfc. T. L. Cherry, 27, Boston; Corp. M. J. Castanza, 20, New Orleans, and Pfc. L. L. Hensley, 21, La Follette, Tenn. The platoon commander was CWO-3 Fred Scroggins, Santa Ana.

Although the President's ruddy face was a mask of sobriety and weariness, he quipped about the forthcoming marriage of daughter, Lynda, to Marine Capt. Charles Robb.

"I have always been proud of the Marines," he said. "I will be prouder still next month when one becomes a member of my family . . . All my life I have heard the phrase, 'The Marines have landed and the situation is well in hand.' Today at the White House we know what that means."

The President's audience was antiseptically free from hecklers, due in part to gate checks by Marine security officers and Secret Service men.

ABOUT 60 antiwar demonstrators lined roads outside the two main gateways to the base. They were moved back when they began to interfere with traffic, officers said.

Security officers stopped cars bearing hippie or bearded types, especially if they bore contraband of so-called underground newspapers, placards or antiwar tracts. They were turned away, as were all drivers who balked at the inspection made possible by federal regulations. Some of the bearded ones were permitted to enter the base when they surrendered their placards.

In his brief remarks at Camp Pendleton, the President again stressed the need for national unity and sought as well to define the peculiar problems of the war.

"YOU AND I know that it is harder and tougher to ask for and achieve a restrained and limited victory, one could surrender—or start World War III—and do either without much help."

"But the hard course, and the true course — the only course — is the one we must steer between surrender and annihilation."

Johnson then proceeded to the 600-bed base hospital, where he spoke to the staff and the wounded and awarded one Bronze Star and two Purple Hearts. A half-hour later he was piped aboard the Enterprise.

Di Carlo Leaves All to Family

The entire estate of Pietro Di Carlo is being left to his widow and four children according to his will, filed Friday in Los Angeles Superior Court.

Attorney Chaplin E. Collins, who filed the petition, said the exact amount of the estate will not be known until an inventory is made. He indicated the estate is substantial.

DI CARLO, son of an immigrant baker from Italy, who built his father's small bakery into a million dollar business, was buried Friday after Requiem High Mass sung by Msgr. George Scott in San Pedro's Mary Star of the Sea Church.

More than 1,200 persons, including members of the Los Angeles Harbor Commission of which he was president, jammed the church to hear Msgr. Scott eulogize, "Pietro always gave of himself . . . and never made a dishonest dollar."

Speaking of Di Carlo's death, Msgr. Scott said, "It is not for me to defend this man. Anyone with an ounce of brains knows it (his death) was an accident."

"Why would a man surrounded by the people he loved; his beloved wife of 43 years, his four children, his 20 grandchildren and his one great-grandchild, take his own life?"

Di Carlo, before his death, was accused by the Los Angeles Times of "conflict of interest" in awarding a contract to Los Angeles Trade Center builder Keith Smith, after Smith reportedly bought stock in Di Carlo's Cabrillo Savings and Loan Association.

Di Carlo's body was found Tuesday, floating in a covered boathouse near the San Pedro Ferry Building.

14 Held in L.A. Bookmaker Raid

EAST LOS ANGELES (CNS) — Fourteen men were arrested Friday in a sheriff's vice raid on an alleged East Los Angeles area bookmaking ring which grossed $2-million a year.

Sixty deputies took part in the massive raid, which authorities said culminated a five-month investigation by the Sheriff's Department, Los Angeles Police and the District Attorney's office.

THE RAIDS were at 10 locations in the East Los Angeles-City of Commerce area.

Vice officers said bail for the suspects ranged from $100 to $10,000.

The $10,000 bail was set for 57-year-old Pete Delgado, of Commerce, whom deputies described as the "ringleader" of the operation. He was booked on suspicion of bookmaking.

Authorities said the bookmaking ring was a "loosely run" organization which operated in bars and out of the pockets of its members.

Phweet! Ford Calls a Foul on Johnson

WASHINGTON (UPI) — House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford, a former University of Michigan grid star, blew the whistle on President Johnson's jocular comments about football Friday.

"I'm sure millions of Americans will share my shocked reaction to President Johnson's reported remarks yesterday to Crown Prince and Princess Vong Savang of neutralist Laos," he said in a statement.

The President, noting that the prince planned to watch Stanford play the University of California in Palo Alto Nov. 18, was reported to have cautioned him:

"College football is a great spectacle, but I am not sure that it gives an accurate picture of America. To see some of our best-educated boys spending an afternoon knocking each other down — while thousands cheer them on — hardly gives a picture of a peace-loving nation."

IF JOHNSON meant this as a jest, Ford didn't take it that way. "I find it incredible that he should publicly belittle the all-American autumn game of football to his royal Laotian guests," his statement continued.

"Personally, I am glad that thousands of fine young Americans can spend this Saturday afternoon 'knocking each other down' in a spirit of clean sportsmanship and keen competition instead of assaulting Pentagon soldiers or policemen with 'peace' placards and filthy words."

"I also pray for the safe homecoming of thousands more from Vietnam where, as on the football fields of the nation, this generation is indeed giving 'an accurate picture of America' that is neither physically flabby nor spiritually soft."

$300 Loot Taken

Burglars who kicked in the front door of Harry Neff's apartment, 536 W. First St., stole a TV set, record player and clothing worth $300, Long Beach police said Friday.

NEW YORK — A nationwide scheme in which the Mafia and other organized crime groups allegedly spend $350,000 for travel and living expenses with stolen credit cards was disclosed Friday in federal court with the unsealing of a mail fraud indictment against four men.

SINCE the theft of 2,000 blank Diners Club credit cards last March, postal inspectors have recovered $800 of the cards and have arrested 30 persons throughout the country on charges of possessing and using them.

An investigation by postal inspectors has shown that the stolen credit cards fell into the hands of members of the Gallo gang in Brooklyn, the Carlo Gambino Mafia family and underworld groups in Las Vegas, Chicago, Los Angeles, Miami, Atlanta and Canadian cities, according to U.S. Atty. Robert M. Morgenthau.

Morgenthau said that fraudulent bills totaling more than $350,000 had been received by the Diners Club in four months from all parts of the United States and Europe.

THE POSTAL investigation according to Morgenthau, showed that the cards were used for travel and living expenses incurred while criminals dealt in stolen government bonds, narcotics, gambling, illegal liquor and cigarette traffic, pornography and transportation of women across state lines for purposes of prostitution.

The four men named in the indictment were charged with conspiracy. The four, all from New York, are Alphonse Confessore, 30 years old; John Kellerman, no age; Phil Travers, 40, and Joseph Pucci, 30.

CONFESSORE, who was caught by marshals Friday as he attempted to escape through a window, was later released in $5,000 bail by Federal Judge F. X. McGohery. Kellerman was described as a fugitive and a warrant was issued for his arrest. The other two will plead to the indictment on Nov. 22.

Nitro Bandit Robs 3 Banks of $4,100

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Four banks and a savings and loan office in the Los Angeles metropolitan area were held up Friday, three of the banks apparently by the same man.

Three bank tellers gave the same description of the man that robbed them. All said he used the same method of operation.

The robber in all three holdups produced a written demand for money and displayed a small vial he claimed contained nitroglycerin.

The three robberies took just 27 minutes and netted $4,100.

The first holdup was at the U.S. National Bank at 13545 S. Hawthorne Blvd. Hawthorne. The robber got away with $2,000.

A Bank of America branch at 8946 Sepulveda Blvd. then was robbed of $1,100.

Eleven minutes later, the Marina Savings and Loan office at 6955 La Tijera Blvd., in the Westchester area, was robbed of $1,000.

The other holdups were of $1,267 at the Crocker Citizens Bank branch at 1301 S. Figueroa St., and of $865 at a Bank of America branch at 4207 Wilshire Blvd.

Jennifer Jones Reported Improving at Mt. Sinai

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Film star Jennifer Jones was "coming around nicely" Friday after being found seemingly lifeless at the base of a seaside cliff.

Sheriff's deputies found her awash in the surf at Malibu after, they said, her doctor told authorities she had telephoned to say she was taking some pills.

By Friday morning, said a spokesman for Mt. Sinai Hospital, the Academy Award winning actress ("Song of Bernadette" 1943) was much improved and "doing fine."

Deputies said that when they found her Thursday night, she was not breathing and appeared dead. One revived her by mouth-to-mouth resuscitation.

35 Reasons that Make the Difference

It takes every one of these items, plus the truck and a trained worker to do a professional job of Wall-to-Wall Carpet Cleaning.

No "handy-man" can hope to duplicate the work of a professional when you stop to consider that the basic equipment costs in excess of $2,000, not counting the truck!!!

As important as the equipment is, it is of no value unless used properly by a thoroughly trained and experienced worker. This training includes complete knowledge of fabrics, spot and stain removal and cleaning agents.

WHO CARES?

You should, because when your carpets are cleaned by Cremer's experts using this equipment and our exclusive 12 step cleaning process, which includes treating your carpets with an application of DU PONT'S SOIL RETARDANT, your carpet will not require re-cleaning for at least 2 years, when you follow our instructions.

QUOTE-ACROSTIC

EDITED BY Charles Preston

HOW TO SOLVE THE QUOTE-ACROSTIC:
1. Define "Clues," writing definitions in "Words" column over numbered dashes.
2. Transfer letters to numbered squares in diagram; black spaces separate words.
3. When pattern is completed, quotation can be read left to right. The first letters of the filled-in "Words," reading down, form an acrostic yielding the speaker's name and the topic of the quotation.

BOOK REVIEWS

Chekhov 'Island' Appears

THE ISLAND: A Journey to Sakhalin. By Anton Chekhov. Washington Square Press, $6.95.

In its Russian Library, Washington Square Press has brought us in English translation treasures which the lover of Russian literature, and indeed of all good literature, had long literally panted for, and for which he had given up hope. A complete version of Pasternak's "Sister My Sister," Boris Pasternak's "The Tale of the Unextinguished Moon and Other Stories" (another writer fallen in disfavor with the party liners) — all these have seen print in this Fall of 1967. More, much more, is promised.

Chekhov's only nonfictional work in book form, "The Island," now appears. Its translation, by Luha and Michael Terpak, leaves something to be desired, but this reviewer — to whom "The Island" had been a wraith, so hopeless had appeared the chances of its appearance in English — this reviewer will not quibble. He is grateful that such a major work has at last been made available to American readers. With its publication all of Chekhov's important works are now in English translation.

Sakhalin is that 600-mile long island, cold, bleak and foggy, covered with forests and mountains, separated from the Siberian mainland by the Gulf of Tatar and the narrow Tatar Strait. After the Russo-Japanese War, in 1905, the Japanese were given the northern half of the island, which Russia took back after World War II. To Sakhalin the czarist regime transported, into virtual oblivion, convicts both criminal and political.

In 1890, Chekhov had reached the peak of his fame; he was the "in" writer, the darling of Russian society. Because Chekhov, one of the most humanitarian of all great writers, knew of Sakhalin "a place of intolerable sufferings," and even though he was a sufferer from tuberculosis, he was seized with an urge, which would not be stilled, to visit the penal island, to "study mankind in its most degraded and pitiful form."

and by such a study learn to bear his own suffering with fortitude and humanity," as David Magarshack puts it in his life of Chekhov.

It is interesting to note that Chekhov, preparing for his investigation, consulted every available material on Siberian convict life. Among the works he read (in illegal Russian translations) were the articles in the Century Illustrated Magazine, and the book, "Siberia and the Exile System," by the American George Kennan. — Nat Horig.

Calif. Prof. Tells of His LSD Trip

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — A California professor says he spent 15 hours under the influence of LSD while doing research for a book on the hippie movement.

Dr. Lewis Yablonsky, professor of sociology and chairman of the department of sociology at San Fernando Valley State College, described his LSD trip to a reporter.

"It was one of the most completely unique experiences of my life," he said.

"At first there was enormous fear. I felt a notion of the death of my ego. I was even trying to say my name so that I would not lose my identity."

"THEN I felt I was melting into the floor. Later I witnessed a huge red, white and blue swirl and I let myself go into that swirl."

"That was followed by the appearance of what looked like a bright light and I seemed to sense that I had been confronted with the center of my existence."

"I'm not a mystical cat and I've never thought of things in mystical terms, but those were the reactions I had."

Yablonsky said the final feeling was a deep desire to

TELE-VUES

17th Year Begins for 'Hall of Fame'

By TERRY VERNON

Hallmark Hall of Fame begins its 17th season of TV specials with "A Bell for Adano" at 7:30 tonight on Ch. 4.

The play has been on Broadway with Fredric March in the role of Major Joppolo and been done as a film with the late John Hodiak in the major role.

Other Hallmark programs for the season include:

"Saint Joan," adaptation of George Bernard Shaw's play, with Genevieve Buford, Maurice Evans, Raymond Massey, Roddy McDowall and George Rose.

Maxwell Anderson's "Elizabeth the Queen," starring Dame Judith Anderson and Charlton Heston.

J. M. Barrie's "The Admirable Crichton," starring Bill Travers and Virginia McKenna, and a repeat of "Give Us Barabbas," with James Daly, Kim Hunter and Dennis King.

Paul Osborne has adapted "Adano" for TV.

IF THE Hallmark efforts may represent one end of the TV spectrum, somewhere near the other end there is the "Miss Teen-Age America Pageant," another blockbuster on the tube tonight.

This show, it should be noted, originates at the Dallas Merchandise Mart in Texas, and in the hour and a half set aside for the proceedings — minus the time out for commercials — 64 teen-age girls are going to be judged for "dignity and intelligence as well as appearance." Good grooming, personality and talent are additional points on which they are scored.

I wouldn't write this sort of program off entirely as nonsense. It does give a $10,000 college scholarship to some girl. It may have an influence on the fair, Past winners "did not go in for extremes in clothes, fantastic hair styles or excessive make-up. Rather, they emphasized simplicity to enhance their own charm and personality," the producers say.

The glut of contests for this and that on TV are manufactured, for the most part, and if, as there obviously is from the ratings, a big audience for this sort of thing, obviously it makes more sense to stage them with and for teen-agers. It's better than "Dating Game."

THE AMERICAN Broadcasting Co., a few weeks back had what it called its Week of Specials — which included a goodly number of "dogs." The National Broadcasting Co., not to be outdone by ABC, announces "NBC's December to Remember." They really mean NBC's half a December to Remember: 15 prime-time events in 16 days, Dec. 1-16.

On paper it doesn't look bad: adaptations of works of George Bernard Shaw, John Steinbeck and Charles Dickens; report on the Negro in Vietnam; Burl Ives, Nancy Sinatra, Frank Sinatra, Dean Martin, Andy Williams, Zubin Mehta, Jack Paar, Groucho Marx and numerous other talented people will appear.

I hope they have better luck with the all-star lineup than they did with the talent that was wasted on the recent Bob Hope fiasco which was supposed to be a humorous item about how the westerns replaced comedy shows. After watching the show the reason was clear.

Fred MacMurray, Barry Livingston, Claire Wilcox, Maureen McCormick, Girl-hating Ernie finds himself going steady with two girls and with two dates for the same dance.

28 Sec. of State Dean Rusk. Repeat of Oct. 24 hawk-like address at L.A. meeting of World Affairs Council.

9:30
 2 (C) Petticoat Junction, Bea Benadoret, Frank Cady. Kate's to get a phone call at Sam's store from the honey-mooners in Hawaii, and all Hooterville goes wild with excitement.

5 (C) Movie: "Night People," Gregory Peck, Rita Gam ('54)

Leave It To Larry
 By LARRY MEDER
 HARBOR CHEVROLET

Almost every "Unidentified Flying Object" ever reported was seen night-time, until yesterday.

A certain very responsible citizen claims he saw an object about six feet long, somewhat cigar-like in shape and hovering at ground level. Despite the early morning haze (about 8:15 AM), he said it appeared to be bright opalescent yellow in color, surrounded completely by windows and that it would go ahead about 200 yards, stop, then lights would flash on and off. His voice rising at this point, he exclaimed excitedly, "And behind every window appeared a little tiny face!"

One of his listeners, very deservingly growled, "What you saw was the kindergarten bus!!!"

Folks, why should you take the bus get a car from us! See of Larry Meder at Harbor Chevrolet 3270 Cherry & the ride you're taken for will be for demonstration purposes only!

Mother Wants Son Back

CHILD IDENTIFIED AS PAUL MILAN BELL.

A shapely redhead who told police she abandoned her small son in a Westminster department store wants him back.

Miss Dina Lynn Gorcev, 24, of 13114 Putnam Ave., Whittier, is accused in a misdemeanor charge of child abandonment and ordered to preliminary hearing at 9:30 a.m. Nov. 13, in Huntington Beach Municipal Court.

Mrs. Gorcev is being held in Orange County jail, Santa Ana, in lieu of $1,000 bail.

Westminster police said the woman appeared to be "very confused" and insists on seeing her son.

She identified him as Paul Milan Bell, and said he was born Dec. 23, 1965.

Police said they were confused about the parentage of the child because she gave them the names of more than one man who was supposed to have fathered the child.

The boy, dubbed "Bobby Blue Eyes" in preference to John Doe, was born in a hospital in or near Cleveland, Ohio.

The child also has red hair, officers said.

Little Paul is now in a foster home, where he was placed by order of Orange County Juvenile Court.

Until police determine Miss Gorcev is the child's mother, and court action is concluded, she will be denied reunion with the boy, authorities said.

THE ATTRACTIVE mother told police she came to the Southland early this year with the man she has been living with in Whittier.

Police said she told them she abandoned the boy because her boyfriend "didn't want him around."

The little boy, found in the department store Aug. 24, was to be put up for adoption next week.

La Palma Mayor Answers Critic

A pretty La Palma housewife who filed notice of intent to seek the recall of all five city councilmen received a strongly worded reply Friday.

La Palma Mayor Peter G. Bouma labeled all of the charges voiced by Mrs. Ervin Mitchell, of 8221 La Granada Circle, "completely ridiculous."

Mrs. Mitchell said citizen pleas that the the community be allowed to vote on whether they wanted to pay the price of a new, $700,000 civic center project fell on deaf ears.

"There's nothing left to do," she said, Thursday while filing her intent.

The petition charges the mayor and Councilmen Jake Vestra and Pete De Groot with conflict of interest, Vice Mayor Paul Furman with misuse of office, and Councilman Clyde McLaughlin with voting for borrowing $100,000 from Cypress School District to finance a city-built storm drain.

The mayor's response to Mrs. Mitchell Friday was emphatic.

"It's has been falsely charged that members of the council voted to borrow $40,000 from water bond funds to purchase a portion of the civic center site," said Bouma. "There is no such action in the city council minutes."

Point by point, Bouma replied to Mrs. Mitchell. He also labeled as false:

— The statement which claims the councilmen borrowed $110,000 from the Cypress School District for "a storm drain which would supposedly benefit a parcel owned by Councilman Pete De Groot."

The mayor said the property in question has been in escrow for a long time and the school district requested the drain to safeguard a new school on W. La Palma Ave.

— The claim that just because Councilman Vestra's property was selected for the Civic Center site, the councilman was involved in a "conflict of interest." Bouma said the site was selected before Vestra was elected to office.

— The charge that Councilman Furman had made "slandorous remarks" against the Voters Rights Committee, of which Mrs. Mitchell is a member.

The mayor claimed VRC is an "irresponsible organization." He said he fears the claims and charges of the group will have a defaming effect on the city.

The Mayor claimed that the VRC is attempting to gain notoriety prior to the April, 1968 elections. The mayor said he recommends that citizens ignore the petitions.

NAVIGATOR NORMAN M. JOHNSON
Long Beach Voyage 'No Difficulty at All'

—Staff Photo

BUT WHY WORRY?

Queen Mary Navigator Never Sailed this Route

By BILL DUNCAN

ABOARD RMS QUEEN MARY — Norman M. Johnson has never sailed the eastern Pacific in all his 19 years at sea.

But Johnson, navigator for the Queen Mary on the longest single cruise the ship has ever attempted, isn't worried in the least about bringing the huge liner into Long Beach Harbor safely on Dec. 9.

"The course is all charted right up to and including Queens Gate in Long Beach Harbor," Johnson said.

"A NAVIGATOR can look at charts, read them and understand what the ship is getting into, just like reading a book," he said. "I've never sailed this route and I've never been on the west side of North or South America, but from the charts I'd say it's no difficulty at all."

The difficulty the Queen Mary does face is how it can meet its commitments for stops at various ports en route to Long Beach and still pull in to her new home port on time.

On Friday, Long Beach officials reached agreement with Cunard Line officers on a new schedule of arrival and departure times in the various ports of call the vessel has planned.

The ship will arrive in Rio de Janeiro at 4 p.m., Sunday, and leave port at 3 a.m.,

Wednesday. She'll arrive in Valparaiso, Chile, at 4 a.m., Nov. 23, and leave at 6 p.m., the following day. The ship pulls in to Callao, Peru, at noon Nov. 27, departs at 2 a.m., Nov. 29. It will arrive at Balboa, Canal Zone, at 1:30 a.m., Dec. 2, and leave at 1 p.m., the same day.

Acapulco will greet the big ship at noon, Dec. 5, then bid her farewell at 8 a.m., Dec. 6. Next stop will be Long Beach and the bands, crowds, greetings and so on.

ABOARD THE ship Friday, the heat eased along with the discomforts of an earlier virus attack. The Queen is still losing an hour a day on her timetable, but that is reflected in the new scheduling of port stops.

The equatorial crossing provided some passengers with an exciting time. First to get the welcome into the kingdom of Neptunus Rex was Martha Knowlton, of Long Beach. She was smothered in shaving cream and drenched with the ship's fire hoses as part of the initiation.

A prominent figure in Long Beach Community Playhouse efforts, she took it all in good stride.

After all, she reasoned, the show—even at sea—must go on.

Air Force Cuts Program Costs

By HERB SHANNON
Aerospace Editor

Multimillion dollar cost reductions in defense contracts have been effected by Air Force contract management programs. Downtown Long Beach Lions were told Friday.

One example cited by Col. James T. McKee, vice commander of the Air Force's contract management division in El Segundo, was a simple change in contractor insurance methods which saved $3 million the first year.

Repairing and reusing rocket engine chambers on the Minuteman missile saved another $1,270,000, Col. McKee said.

"MANY OF THE SAVINGS are small and appear insignificant, but when added together result in important reductions in our budget," he said.

Col. McKee, who holds an advanced degree in business administration from Harvard, pointed out his office manages 6,000 industry contracts calling for an annual expenditure of about $5 billion.

Major projects include such programs as the giant Lockheed C-5A cargo plane which will be capable of carrying more than 500 troops and equipment; the McDonnell Douglas Manned Orbiting Space Laboratory; the Saturn space booster which successfully orbited a lunar spacecraft Thursday, and the controversial F111 aircraft, formerly known as the TFX.

Following his prepared talk, Col. McKee dismissed criticism of the F111, a supersonic fighter which folds its wings in flight to achieve greater speed.

"THE CHIEF debate is whether the Navy model is too heavy for carrier landings," he said. "I think that is just a difference of opinion between engineers."

"I know the research and engineering effort which has gone into the F111 will result in a plane which will be useful to the Navy as to the Air Force."

Col. McKee was not quite as extravagant in his praise of the aircraft as the test pilot who was reported to have recommended adapting it as a manned space vehicle.

"I have heard of that report," Col. McKee. "It indicates confidence in the F111, but I doubt if the suggestion to use it as a space vehicle was serious. We have other designs more suitable for that purpose."

Veterans Day to Honor GIs

More than 100 marching bands, color guard units and drill teams will march along Ocean Boulevard through downtown Long Beach today in support of American fighting men on Veterans Day.

Represented will be every branch of the armed forces—and, parade officials say, an antiwar group called Veterans and Reservists for Peace.

The two-hour parade, which has the theme "Peace With Honor," will start at Esperanza Avenue at 11 a.m. and march to Magnolia Avenue. Admiral Willard J. Smith, U.S. Coast Guard commander, will be grand marshal. A Coast Guard helicopter will hover over the parade.

Long Beach Mayor Edwin Wade and Marie Hart, national president of the American Gold Star Mothers, are honored guests.

Honorary Grand Marshal is Anthony Caserta of Alliance, Ohio, national commander of AMVETS.

Caserta Friday said the parade should "show our support for American fight-

Animal Guests Kept Warm, Snug at Shelter

"Dogs, cats, horses, mules, donkeys, snakes, skunks, 'possums' — everything but elephants!"

Bill DeMaris, senior deputy in charge of L.A. County's Animal Shelter Three at 216 W. Victoria St., was describing the daily parade at the shelter.

"Well, we haven't had a tiger, either, or a camel," he admitted. "But we've had almost everything else. We handled 2,198 complaints — each involving some kind of animal — in the month of October."

DeMaris started work with the County Pound Department 23 years ago after a 20-year tour in the Navy. He is a firm believer in the necessity of animal regulation as done by the shelter and its seven deputies.

"If we didn't pick up stray animals," he said, "we would be having rabid dogs all over the place. It has happened; I've seen it happen, several times."

"DOGS MUST BE KEPT at home, on the owner's own property, at all times unless leashed and controlled by a competent person. They must be vaccinated against rabies, and they must be licensed."

The big shelter on the south side of Victoria Street between Broadway and Main Street, in county territory north of the Carson district, has 96 modern kennels for its animal guests.

"The floors are heated," DeMaris said. "Air ducts bring warm air into each kennel. The animals are well treated in humane conditions. You can say that for sure!"

Poverty Agency to Acquire L.B. Mobile Health Trailer

Local poverty officials have taken steps to acquire a special mobile health trailer for the low-income sections of Long Beach under the War on Poverty. The antipoverty agency's board of directors agreed to forward a $262,000 proposal for the health unit to the federal Office of Economic Opportunity, which must approve the request.

The health trailer would offer free physical examinations to the poor and provide jobs for 19 low-income persons as health aides and clerical workers.

L. G. Estes, director of the division of environmental health in the city's Department of Public Health, told the board "There's a demonstrated need" for the facility.

"I urge quick action," he said.

The facility would be financed by the Office of Economic Opportunity out of " earmarked health funds" under the federal poverty program.

The Long Beach unit would be operated under the auspices of the local community action agency — the Economic Opportunities Commission.

CessnaAir Open House to Unveil Two Models

CessnaAir Aviation, Inc., a new Cessna aircraft agency in Southern California, will hold a public open house in the sales and service facility at 3561 Lakewood Blvd. from 9:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. Sunday.

Two new Cessna models will be unveiled for the first time and introductory family flights at two cents a pound will be available.

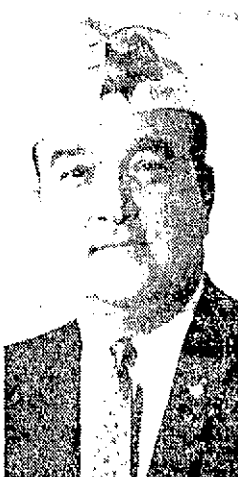

Walter Peters, president, said the Cessna franchise was signed Thursday. Sunday will be the first day the doors are open to the public.

Chief pilot and head of the flight school is Frank Tanner, formerly chief pilot at Air Oasis. Service manager is Earl Morgan, also formerly with Air Oasis.

New planes to be shown are the Cessna Model 421, a pressurized twin-engine aircraft carrying six persons and the Cessna Cardinal 177, a single-engine four-place design.

Both models feature luxury furnishings. The Model 421 is equipped with a bar, stereo, toilet and air conditioning. The Cardinal is a design departure with a new fuselage configuration and a full-cantilever wing.

By ED MORSE
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Wall Street could heave a sigh of relief this weekend because a long, six-week decline had reached some level of bottom—whether temporary or not remained to be seen.

A week ago pessimists were bound, because the street has a tendency to climb aboard bandwagons, whether of gloom or of joy. Now, however, there was a ray of sunlight in the shadowy canyons of the street.

The stock market had achieved an advance on average, its first in seven weeks. Nothing very much had changed in the news background. True, Chrysler had averted a threatened strike, making a tentative agreement with the United Auto Workers. But the general atmosphere remained much the same.

No solution had appeared for the income surtax dilemma. The British had boosted their bank rate to 7½ per cent from 6 per cent. Long-term U.S. Treasury bonds had sunk to their lowest levels on record. All of this spelled high interest rates and monetary confusion—the main factors which have been blamed for the decline in stocks.

Yet, the stock market did rally.

The Dow Jones industrial average last week advanced $19 to $62.81.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks this week gained 1.1 at 310.2.

These were very modest advances on average, but at least they were not declines. The verdict of a higher market, however, was somewhat muddled by the fact that of the 614 issues traded last week on the New York Stock Exchange, 800 fell and 665 rose. Of the advancing stocks, though, many were highly capitalized blue chip industrials.

So there was not much doubt that the quoted value of stocks had actually improved somewhat on balance.

Because Tuesday was Election Day and there was no trading on the New York Stock Exchange, volume for the week was only 1,819,850 shares compared with 52,798,890 for the full five-day trading week previous.

Hope was roused among

The market has now declined to a point where some recovery can be expected at any time. We would expect Collins Radio, Polaroid, Raytheon and Teledyne to lead such a recovery from current levels.

The sharp penetration of both the August low of $94 and the $80-$90 area of the major trendline not only delayed the long overdue recovery, but also changed the over-all market picture. This is the first time since the October low of 740 that the over-all trend has changed from up to neutral.

That some stability has developed in the short-term picture was indicated by the recent wide-swinging trading pattern. This suggests consolidation between the $45-$65 levels. The more consolidation, the more significant a volume penetration of either level.

THE MARKET is still very oversold. The recent sharp declines in price have not been supported by similar expansion in volume. Further deceleration on the downside could spark some buying interest; however, a recovery based only upon a drop in selling pressure would not be very dynamic. Only a period of consolidation — or a selling climax — will serve as a base for more than a short term rebound.

The depth and swiftness of the recent decline from the 945 high should create a large overhanging supply when the market attempts to recover. A large number of stockholders who missed an opportunity to take some profits will be anxious to take advantage of any rally. This is another reason why a strong reversal and acceleration on the upside is needed before a rally of significance can be expected to develop.

STUDY of larger black transactions continues to indicate selling on balance. However, it appears that the recent declines were based more on the lack of buying than the strength of selling. Among the issues under large-scale accumulation that are regarded favorably on a technical basis are Collins Radio, Gulton, Sperry Rand, Teledyne. Among the issues under large-scale distribution that are regarded unfavorably are Pan American Airways, American Airlines, Union Carbide, American Cyanamid.

It is now a market of fewer stocks. More and more issues are succumbing to sell pressures. Most of the strongest stocks are glamor issues. Specific issues such as Occidental Petroleum and Pan American Sulphur continue to dominate the ticker tape.

Fewer groups are performing well, as most are sharply divided between the strongest and weakest members. Among the groups that continue to show relative strength (with their strongest issues) are electronics (Raytheon, Collins Radio), color TV (RCA, Motorola), cosmetics (Revlon and Revlon), office and business equipment (IBM and Sperry Rand).

The bulls as early as Monday when a steep decline found support around the 848 level in the Dow industrials and a strong comeback was made, even though the market ended lower.

Election Day brought no unsettling results so far as the economy was concerned so there was a vigorous rally, early on Wednesday, but it faded disappointingly and another loss was chalked up—the eighth straight daily decline.

On Thursday the market squeaked through to its first rise in nine sessions. Blue chips pushed up the averages nicely, but the over-all list produced only four more gainers than losers.

By Friday, conviction had spread that a worthwhile technical rally was really going and the market this time racked up a solidly-based advance, showing strength in rails as well as industrials and with oils tacking on substantial gains.

Heads for Top Hospital Chaplain Post Via Pacific, Watts, Memorial

By LES RODNEY

One of four ministers going through an intensive year's internship program in Memorial Hospital is 34-year-old Rev. William S. Brinkley, and thereby hangs a tale going back some 25 years to the jungles of the Pacific.

As a chaplain who put in three years with Army engineers during World War II, Rev. Brinkley more than a few times was face to face with GIs in various stages of shock and psychological distress.

"I felt kind of helpless, not being trained to give them all the help they needed," he recalled this week. "I felt the need to equip myself for such work."

He decided that some day back stateside he wanted to move into that area.

The years often erode a man's dream of what he'd most like to do. But Rev. Brinkley never let it die.

"IT MAY sound strange that after all these years I go back to that," he said. "Well, the kids are grown, this opportunity came, and I'm able to take advantage of it."

After the year of clinical training in hospital ministry, aided by a grant from the Southland Presbytery, Rev. Brinkley will move into the state hospital system, with sights set on the chaplain's post in the projected Watts hospital.

He won't go in there as a stranger to the community. When he came out of the service, the 33-year-old cleric settled in Watts. For 16 years he pastored the area's only Presbyterian church, Hope Presbyterian on 92nd Street.

There he saw some of the forces building up which led to the tragic events of August, 1965.

"Negroes poured in in large numbers after the war," he related. "You know, lots of them trained out this way as servicemen, and liked it. The word somehow got started that

Los Angeles was one of the better places for Negroes.

"Families came looking to better themselves, many from the deep South, from Mississippi and Texas particularly, it seemed to me. They came with the idea that a man's a man, they interpreted what they had heard as meaning they could live where they chose to locate and were able to get the same chances as everyone and... well, it didn't quite work that way."

The frustrations and hostility built up over the years, he said.

"IT'S NOT overnight, it comes over a period of frustration, of expectations that don't work out. Watts got more and more crowded, and Negroes moved down into what is called Willowbrook, but that was about it for quite a while."

He smiled a bit, wryly. "Used to hear folks in Watts refer to Compton, Texas. And oh yes, Long Beach, Mississippi."

He was troubled by the number of adults who were illiterate.

It is no secret that many of the newcomers came from the rural South with the handicap of illiteracy or near illiteracy, and the need for training to adjust to urban job requirements. Though, of course, THEIR problems were compounded by segregation in a way not true of equally ill-prepared rural whites.

Hope Presbyterian set up a community center in those early years, the only one around at the time for 16-18 year old youngsters. Pioneering programs of "camperships"—scholarships—sent many a teenager to the Presbyterian campgrounds at Big Bear for their first outside experience mingling with teen age whites.

"We couldn't have done these things without the help of others," Rev. Brinkley readily concedes. "Two white ministers who helped provide this wonderful leadership were Dick Irving and David Burcham."

The tribute was to two current Long Beach pastors, Rev. Richard G. Irving of North Long Beach Community Presbyterian Church, and Dr. Hugh David Burcham, of Covenant Presbyterian Church.

The factor of adult illiteracy bothered Rev. Brinkley more and more. He began going to UCLA in all the free time he could muster, using his GI Bill to qualify as an instructor.

WITH GRACE Presbyterian in good hands, in 1963 he threw himself into adult education, teaching out of Manual Arts High School.

"You have no idea," he says, "what it means to people, even to say 'Gosh, I don't have to mark an X for my signature any more.' It's one little step to dignity."

"Even today, you have new adults coming in who were never schooled. Younger ones too often need this kind of help, and don't get it."

A native of rural North Carolina, Rev. Brinkley himself started up the educational ladder at a Presbyterian mission high school in Oxford, N.C.

"Mary Potter High School," he recalls with a smile. "Yes, it's still there."

From there he went on to Johnson C. Smith University in Charlotte, and the United Presbyterian Seminary in Chicago. He lives in Los Angeles with his wife Thelma. An 18-year-old daughter is in college, and two other children are adults.

By his very background and life's experience, Rev. William Brinkley, while not one whit Pollyannaish about the basic causes of tension, likes to look forward and positively about race relations.

The emergence of black power extremism, with its racist anti-white manifestations, saddens him.

"We saw this coming more than 20 years ago," he said quietly. "The white ministers who helped us saw it coming. I'll be candid. If there had been more people like them, and people like them in positions of authority, the riots would never have happened."

"People like our minister friends and others like them and the things they accomplish don't get much publicity. I can't help but feel that the press errs in playing up the negative people so much, over and over, instead of hard working people of good will."

"ANOTHER mistake is the tendency of some to lump together different kinds of Negro leaders. Now Dr. Martin Luther King may be considered radical by some people, but he doesn't preach hate. Those who ignore the big difference between King and those like Carmichael and Brown are not only dead wrong, but they do a big disservice."

On the personal level, Rev. Brinkley, a man closing in on a dream, is very happy with his work at Memorial Hospital, and looks forward keenly to his new career in hospital chaplaincy.

"There's such a lot of counseling needed," he says. "There's broken homes, demoralization... you know, urban life is so different from what many of these people knew, it's cold, as if nobody cared one bit. This work gives me a chance to help show that some people care."

He puts a lot of importance in the building of the Watts hospital, and hopes there isn't too much delay.

"For many people there, it's a 20-mile trip to the nearest hospital. That's a long way."

AS FOR Long Beach's Memorial Hospital—"It's

REV. WILLIAM S. BRINKLEY
'I Felt Kind of Helpless...'

a great hospital. I really feel fortunate to have gotten in on such a program. And the reception I've received, from both staff and patients, is just remarkable."

According to those who work with him, that descriptive word might well be used to characterize Rev. Brinkley, who is already engaged in clinical counseling work with patients, helping alcoholics, working with the HELP NOW suicide prevention program, and taking his turn in preaching the sermon in the hospital chapel.

He will not want for opportunities to use his skills and humanity when he is finished at Memorial, even if the Watts hospital is not yet a reality. In preparation, he has taken the state examination. Did pretty well.

Just number two on the state list.

The Moral Case for Arabs Told

In a sermon delivered in the Unitarian Church of Long Beach entitled "The Moral Case for the Arabs," Dr. John Nicholls Booth, pastor said "Americans have a one-sided, incomplete view of the Arab-Israeli conflict."

To expiate past sins against the Jewish people, he said, territory "was wrenched from the Arabs, a people who had never directed programs against the Jews. In fact, in the past they had received them most hospitably when they fled from persecution."

The "core conflict," he asserted, "is the territorial imperative. It is within the breast of all living creatures, from bird to dog, and wild animal to man, to guard and fight to the death over what they regard as their own land."

DR. BOOTH stressed the refugee situation, citing these statistics: "Nearly all the olive groves, half the citrus groves and 10,000 shops, businesses and stores in Israel in 1953 belonged to Arab refugees."

"There is no known case in history where a people has been deprived of its property en masse," he said, "and received virtually no reparations."

Now, he adds, "the West Bank of the Jordan is gone. The Arabs, often misused by their leaders, have been humiliated... On the West Bank, Jordan grew 80 per cent of its olives, 65 per cent of its vegetables, 60 per cent of its fruit, on 2,301 square miles of fertile territory."

"Of 323,000 refugees in the latest war, the Israelis permitted only some 13,000 to 15,000 to return, despite opposite promises, a pitiful performance of humanitarianism."

The Arab's honor is at stake, Dr. Booth contends. "His kin have lost their possessions and holy lands to other people. Arab leadership reactions have been overly emotional and accompanied by the disgracefully threatening stance of the bully. These indignant blasts have turned many Americans against the Arabs."

TALE OF SURVIVAL Eagles Ride Storms Lesser Birds Fear

By Norman Vincent Peale

Storms bring out eagles; little birds take to cover. Little men try to run from storms and sometimes are snatched by them. But big men ride storms to better things.

When things get too soft, it may seem just fine but all the time you are softening. And then trouble begins. Ever hear of the Penobscot sea gulls from down-East in Maine? They live in rocky crannies of Penobscot Bay and are said to be the most beautiful sea gulls in the world. The aerodynamics of their flight — sideslipping and wheeling downwind — is something to behold. And they have always been pretty smart gulls. They teach their young to forage their own food and be strong self-reliant sea gulls like their forefather. They really are tough birds.

It seems that every winter these sea gulls go to Florida for food. According to the story I heard, a squall once struck the Penobscot gulls in migration forcing them off course and down on Conch Island near St. Augustine. There they were made welcome by hospitable southern sea gulls.

NEXT MORNING the visitors from Maine expected to be invited to their hosts' fishing grounds where they could test their mettle in the struggle for food. But the native sea gulls didn't move. Instead they just sat around indolently waiting. Then preppily calling their northern visitors to join them, they flapped into the air and came down a hundred yards away around a fleet of shrimp boats where they gorged themselves on scraps of fish and shrimp thrown overboard.

The down-East gulls were amazed and delighted. Never had they known anything like this. Imagine it! Food without work! It appeared to that laziness which apparently is in birds same as in men. When summer came the flock of northern sea gulls did not fly back to Maine but sat indolently on Conch Island and grew fat, almost too fat to fly.

Then the fishing fleet went away and the softening up gulls did not know what to do. They began to have it real rough. The young had not been taught to seek and struggle for their own food. Their plaintive cries brought no help and many died of starvation.

Well, it seems that men, no less than sea gulls, need to grapple with difficulties to condition them for survival in this world. A really smart person never gets to a point where he is unwilling to go out and struggle. If you are having rough going don't whine and whimper. Instead cultivate the philosophy of difficulty: every difficulty contains some inherent good you can utilize to move forward.

At luncheon with half a dozen men our conversation turned on the attitude that hardship is a bad thing. One man was asked to what he credited his success. "Poverty," he replied. "Poverty was and still is my motivation. My father was a drunk, a kind-hearted, lovable father but a drunk. We literally had nothing — lived in a shack and my mother took in washing. I can see her yet over those old-fashioned steaming tubs working herself to death. We kids were hand-me-downs. I hated poverty like nobody's business. So I got going and worked my way out of it. I took my mother out of it too. But I'm still running scared from poverty."

Others around the table, likewise, credited hardship, struggle and tough conditions for what they had become. "But you are all rich men. What about your own kids?" I asked.

THE ANSWERS ran like this: "They've got it worse than we had it because they have it too much." "Yeah," chimed in another, "if we don't watch out they'll become a bunch of hippies." "It's tough on character to have it too good," said another.

It would be unwise to forget the truth that storms bring out eagles — little birds take to cover; and that every child of God has eagle characteristics in him. Storms help him to grow big wings.

My friend George Cullum, prominent construction executive in water and drainage lines in Dallas, has a formula from himself and his men: "When the job gets rough get as rough as the job. When the rock gets hard get as hard as the rock."

Life can be pretty tough, really tough. But something was built in human nature that is tougher still. Frank Leahy, famed Notre Dame coach, wrote a legend on the locker room wall for his football players: "When the going gets tough, let the tough get going."

Speakers to Tackle Tough Questions at the Pacific Christian Convention

Featuring four leading speakers, a wide range of "Interest Groups" tackling provocative questions, and varied singing combinations, the annual Pacific Christian Convention will take place in Long Beach Tuesday through Friday evenings, Nov. 14-17.

More than 3,000 persons are expected to attend the session in First Christian Church, Fifth Street and Locust Avenue, according to G. B. Gordon, of the sponsoring Pacific Christian College.

Began in 1955, the convention this year will be held simultaneously in four Southern California locations, to better accommodate those in the various areas. The program will be presented in churches in Escondido, Granada Hills and Riverside as well as Long Beach, with speakers alternating. A total attendance of 6,000 is anticipated.

The mass meetings will begin at 7 p.m. each evening. At the pulpit in Long Beach starting Tuesday will be:

Jack E. Boal, who has conducted successful revivals in many states and Mexico, and has founded churches in Anaheim, Phoenix, San Jose, and most recently Tustin. He was listed in the 1965 edition of "Outstanding Young Men of America."

Thomas W. Overton, pastor at the large First Christian of Huntington Beach, where 1,425 new members have been added during his eight years. He is past president of the college board of directors, and is listed in "Who's Who in the West."

Thomas N. Courtney, who went to open a new field in a primitive area of Rhodesia in 1963 with his wife and two children, using their skills in construction, bacteriology, flying, and teaching. During their first term, schools have been constructed and staffed, five congregations established and 387 persons baptized.

Fred P. Thompson, who pastored First Christian of Chicago for 14 years, has been a leading figure in the National Assn. of Evangelicals, and wrote "Bible Prophecies," a study guide.

The 8 p.m. interest groups will feature a wide range of topics such as Secular Theology, How to Stay Happily Married, The New Morality, Africa Today, The Christian and Social Issues, Science and the Bible, Integration and the Church, Reaching College Students for Christ.

COMMENTATOR
Wendell Noble, veteran radio commentator, will address the dinner meeting of the Belmont Heights Methodist Men's Club, Third Street and Termino Avenue, Wednesday, 6:30 p.m. Reservations may be made through Tuesday.

STATE LEADER
Dr. Robert D. Hughes, executive secretary of the Southern Baptist Convention of California, will lead revival services at Narbonne Avenue Baptist Church, 24730 Narbonne Ave., Lomita, Sunday through the following Sunday, Nov. 19. Weekday schedule is 10 a.m. and 7:30 p.m., Sunday 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. Special nights include a hot dog supper for juniors Tuesday, taco supper for intermediates Thursday, and young people's night Saturday.

GOINGS ON

Rev. Bernard W. Lohman and Rev. John J. Stanley of the Paulist Fathers will conduct a mission (a series of talks on Catholic teaching and devotion) at St. Cornelius, 5500 Wardlow Road, Sunday through Friday, at 7:30 p.m. each night. People of all religions are invited and there will be a question box period at the one hour sessions.

Joyce Landorf, pianist, vocalist and recording artist who is heard daily on radio, will appear at the Christianity in Depth evening service Sunday, 7:30 in Christ Presbyterian, 5225 N. Hayter Ave., Lakewood. A coffee hour will follow.

"Let It Rain," third annual parent-youth program of the East Long Beach Stake, Latter-day Saints, will be held Tuesday and Wednesday at 1140 Ximeno Ave. Dr. Walton Cole, will deliver an illustrated lecture on "Nature, Man and Modern Religion" to the Santiago Unitarian Universalist Fellowship, 2025 N. Broadway, Santa Ana, Sunday at 10:30 a.m.

Rev. Clyde Cook, director of missions at Biola College, will discuss his years in the Philippines Monday, 7:30 p.m. in Bethany Lutheran, 4644 Clark Ave. Dr. Ross Price, Pasadena College professor of religion and philosophy, will speak Sunday at the morning and evening services in Cypress Church of the Nazarene. Rev. Bert Webb, assistant general superintendent of the Assemblies of God, just back from the Far East, will speak Sunday, 7 p.m. in Bethany Chapel, 13414 Paramount Blvd., South Gate.

Religion Plays Essential Role, Primate Tells Russ

On the occasion of the Soviet Union's 50th anniversary, His Eminence Archbishop Iakovos, primate of the Greek Orthodox Church of North and South America, blasted that country's attitude toward the church and expressed the wish for correction. His statement, in part: "While cognizant of the accomplishments of the Russian people during the past half century of Soviet rule, sincere believers and practitioners of all faiths throughout the world cannot forget the almost total destruction of religion in Russia following the Revolution of November 7, 1917, and must express the deep concern about its present and future status in the U.S.S.R."

"The Revolution had a catastrophic effect on the Russian Orthodox Church which in subsequent years was steeped in the blood of thousands of martyred bishops, priests and faithful."

Although the Church of Moscow has many sincere clergymen and devout followers of the faith, the communist government determines the Church policy, and the hierarchy are in many cases constrained to be the tools of the State.

"The prayers and hopes of God-fearing men everywhere are that the present and future leaders of the U.S.S.R. will understand that religion cannot be paid lip service for the purposes of expediency; that it must be dignified with the respect that is its due; that it plays an essential role in the life and creativeness of man; that it motivates love and brotherhood among men and lends dignity to human strivings and accomplishments; that men should be regarded with esteem in their worship, which brings them hope, comfort and inspiration; and that they should be made to feel that the way of their chosen belief is not outside of, but integral to, the function of any society including that of the U.S.S.R."

Ys Celebrate Prayer Week

One hundred years ago the World Alliance of the YMCA instituted a Week of Prayer at its Fifth World Conference in Paris.

Next week, beginning Sunday, YMCAs and YWCAs all over the world will join to celebrate the 100th anniversary.

All six branches of the YMCA of Greater Long Beach will be holding special prayer programs as part of the celebration.

Theme of this year's international celebration is "Come with a Song." A booklet of suggested prayers to be used each day of the week has been distributed to the six branches of YMCA of Greater Long Beach.

Wednesday a meeting of Protestant ministers, Catholic priests and Jewish rabbis will be held at the Los Cerritos YMCA for an ecumenical discussion of the development of spiritual values in the YMCA.

During a special annual Lay Staff Retreat on the campus of Cal Poly at San Dimas, Dr. Hugh Nelson, chairman of the Los Cerritos YMCA, will conduct a special program in recognition of the anniversary celebration.

After the World Alliance of YMCAs adopted the program of a Week of Prayer in 1967, the World YWCA adopted a similar program at its world conference in London in 1968.

It wasn't until 1901 that both organizations decided to use the same prayer text for the observance and in 1904 they joined together and began to use the same dates in November for their celebration.

In addition to the prayers for each day of the week, the booklet, "Come With a Song" also contains a list of recommended readings from the Bible to be used for each month of the year.

"With a name like Rev. Hefler, I have to be good!"

1st Baptist Get New Minister

Rev. Dale Aycock has accepted the pastorate of First Southern Baptist Church, 5640 Orange Ave., and assumed his duties last Sunday.

A native Texan, Aycock came to California in 1952 and served as pastor of a mission which is now First Southern Baptist Church of Santa Monica. He has served five other churches in the state. A graduate of California Baptist College in Riverside, and has taught in the seminary extension in that city.

He moves to Long Beach from Colton with Mrs. Aycock, a school teacher, and four children ranging from 6 to 15. He succeeds Dr. Robert Hughes, who moved to the post of executive secretary of the Southern Baptist General Convention of California.

St. Luke's Sets Ceremonies

Members of St. Luke's Episcopal Church, the oldest Episcopal Parish in Long Beach, will dedicate their new Parish Hall at the historic corner of Atlantic and Seventh next Wednesday evening, and will celebrate 72 years of growth and service.

Following a 6:15 p.m. Eucharist Service, members and friends of the parish will hear the Rt. Rev. Robert C. Rusack, Suffragan Bishop of Los Angeles, dedicate the $235,000 building. A parish dinner will follow in the new hall.

The new building, preserving the church's distinctive and familiar appearance with its English Country-Gothic architecture, replaces the original one erected in 1917, and brings the master plan for the church within one step of completion. (Landscaping will be added to the picture shown.)

OVER $725,000 has now been expended for land, buildings and furnishings in the parish's building program, a vast renewal which represents another resounding vote of confidence in the future of Long Beach's downtown area.

The first new unit in the $850,000 building program, the church school and youth center, was completed in 1963 on land acquired at Seventh and Linden immediately west of the original church site. A final unit remains to be built — the choir and administration building to be erected north of the church on Atlantic, completing the functional pattern of various departments radiating from the central church structure.

Standing behind the extended brick cloisters on Atlantic and the two brick walled patios on Seventh, the new Parish Hall contains a large meeting and dining hall with raised stage, an all-electric kitchen, large Guild Room for the Women of St. Luke's, his lounge and rest room and three patio areas. Glass doors and high windows on the north wall open out on a new cloistered walkway and large paved patio adjoining the church and chapel.

ST. LUKE'S master plan architects are Heusel, Homolka and Associates. General contractor for the parish hall, completed eight months after the old one was torn down, was Klaus Viether of Long Beach.

Officiating with Bishop Rusack in the Wednesday dedication will be Dean F. C. Benson Belliss, rector of St. Luke's from 1951 to 1966, when he assumed his supervisory position, and the present rector, Rev. Samuel L. Hall, Chairman of the building committee is Monroe S. Yunker.

FROM WALES

Rev. Ivor Powell, "The Man from Wales," will conduct an evangelistic campaign at Immanuel Baptist Church, 3215 E. Third St., Sunday through the following Sunday, Nov. 19, with services 11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. Sundays, and 7:30 each weekday evening except Saturday. In the tradition of famed Welsh preachers, he is noted for vivid word pictures and humor in bringing the Bible alive. He is author of 14 books and has produced 24 motion pictures covering his world-wide evangelistic travels. His latest production, "Where Jesus Walked," will be shown each night before the services.

On Downey Staff

Rev. Thomas Lane, who has supervised Protestant services in National Parks, has joined the staff of First Presbyterian Church of Downey, 10544 E. Downey Ave., as assistant pastor, working primarily in the field of education.

Asks U.S. Study

Brazil Race Peace

The Most Rev. Joseph M. Breitenbeck, auxiliary bishop of Detroit, chairman of the Sub-Committee for Inter-American Cooperation of the U.S. Bishops' Committee for Latin America, National Conference of Catholic Bishops, has suggested that the United States may benefit from an analysis of racial harmony in Brazil.

"Current investigations into the causes of the recent riots in Detroit and other cities may provide valuable insights into racial harmony through study of Brazil's successes," Bishop Breitenbeck said. "Much could be gained by expanding our analysis to include countries such as Brazil where integration has long been a functioning reality."

AT L.B. STAKE

Genealogy and children programs will be stressed at weekend meetings of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints at the Stake Tabernacle, 3701 Elm Ave., with Elder A. Leslie Derbyshire of the Genealogy Committee, and Mrs. Clara W. McMaster of the Primary Board, from Salt Lake City, Derbyshire is a logistics specialist at Hill Air Force Base. Mrs. McMaster, a teacher, is a member of the Tabernacle Choir and has composed several songs. Visitors are welcome at the sessions Sunday at 10 a.m. and 2:30 p.m.

CHRISTMAS EARLY BIRDS

Mrs. Arthur Watts, Jeanne Deits, 8, and Mrs. David Atherton, in the usual order, help prepare for the annual Christmas shop of the Women's Society of Christian Service at Grace Methodist Church, next Thursday from 9:30 a.m. to 8 p.m. and Friday, 11:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. Hand made gifts at attractive prices, home made baked goods and other goodies will be on tap as well as a luncheon and snack bar, and a turkey dinner Thursday evening. Everybody is welcome.

Sees Unity as Obligation

GENEVA — "In a world that is torn asunder, full of suffering and threatened by the most dire catastrophe, in a world that is plunged into unheard-of spiritual and moral confusion, the collaboration of the Christian churches is an urgent need of the times, and an obligation that we owe to history."

With these words, his All Holiness Athenagoras I, Ecumenical Patriarch of Constantinople, defined for the staff of the World Council of Churches and a distinguished audience of representatives from church and state the overriding reason for his visit to the leaders of the world's major religious communions.

His Holiness cautioned that a crisis exists in the ecumenical movement. "Today we find ourselves facing the temptation to content ourselves with what has already been achieved and to allow the movement to stagnate; or we find ourselves faced with the possibility of the movement's being inspired to new dynamic action," he said.

MISSIONARY TO BE ORDAINED

Ben West, of First Baptist Church of Lakeview, will be ordained and commissioned Sunday, 7 p.m., at the church in preparation for his leaving with his wife Sharon for work in the Philippines.

The Wests will also be honored guests at the church's 20th anniversary banquet Monday in the new fellowship hall.

L.A. Philharmonic Returns Triumphant

By DANIEL CARIAGA
Music Critic

The Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra, which arrived home from its 41-concert world tour only Wednesday noon, opened its 49th season Thursday night before an SRO audience in the Music Center Pavilion.

As expected, it was a triumphal return. The orchestra, looking a bit pooped, sounding somewhat stident after having CARIAGA L.A. Philharmonic played in 23 locations since we last heard them in Hollywood Bowl two months ago, played with exceptional vitality and surprising single mindedness of purpose.

Zubin Mehta, now entering his sixth year as music director, was leading the first of eight Pavilion events he gives before leaving on his annual guest-conducting tour. (He conducts the orchestra's first Long Beach concert, in Lakewood High Auditorium, tonight.)

Because of the near-overlapping of tour and season's opening, and the orchestra's unusually heavy schedule during its first two weeks home, Philharmonic patrons may forgive the ultraconservative program on this first pair, and ignore the fact that each of its three items have been heard here frequently and recently.

The high level of the performance, at least, needs no apology.

There may be interpreters of Wagner's "Meistersinger" Prelude and Beethoven's "Eroica" Symphony who specialize in greater contrasts, more mellifluous soft passages, deeper insights, than Mehta. But for galvanic drive, hormonal overactivity and just plain guts, the magnetic Indian leads the pack.

Yes, we missed the sort of cohesion in the opening movement and in the Funeral March we seem to remember from his last performance of the Symphony. Also, the range of dynamics the Prelude really needs for maximum impact at its climatic points. Yet there is no denying the frequent excitement Mehta achieves.

In the D-minor Piano Concerto of Brahms, all forces hit the mark.

We were not prepared for the tightness of concept, the controlled poetry Van Cliburn brought to the forbidding heights of this work. He played it with his customary individuality, yet always within the confines of taste, propulsion and style. It was a sovereign performance, immaculate in detail, impassioned in outline.

It was a young man's Brahms, spontaneous and convincing. I must point out that Cliburn, at 32, and Mehta, at 31, are within months of the age Brahms was when he completed the work. What they feel for it, and what they project of it, strikes me as definitive. I hope someone, somewhere, recorded KFAC's stereo broadcast of the concert; this portion of it was treasureable.

THREE ONE-ACT PLAYS

City Collegians Perform Admirably

By RALPH HINMAN JR.
Drama Critic

There is a high degree of professional expertise in three one-act "he-she" plays closing a two-performance run tonight in Long Beach City College auditorium.

To a large degree the three products of the LBCC theater arts department are directors' triumphs — which in no way downgrades the acting talents apparent.

Always the director's task is to interpret the playwright's inner meaning, what he's trying to say, then to illuminate it on stage for the audience. I think the student trio succeeded admirably in each directional function.

Take the opener, Murray Schisgal's mocking "The Tiger." The action revolves about an intellectual pseudo or real being the question — who stalks the city at night on "tiger paws." He has "educated" himself by reading such discredited thinkers as Nietzsche and Lysenko between the nocturnal forays.

Director Elaine Herman chose a sympathetic interpretation for Ken McKee in the role. He's phony all right, but essentially a nice guy. Similarly, Theresa Flemmer, a bored suburban housewife "kidnaped" by the man who turns and tames the tiger, offers the right mixture of fear and feminine wiles.

It's a very funny, and occasionally touching, play.

Paul Eickmeier's version of Dorothy Parker's 1930ish "Here We Are" sprays acid humor on the old American custom of honeymooning. Don Marcy and Leslie Black, alone at last on the train, proceed to mince each other with a cruelty closely related to love. And that's what it's all about.

THERE IS a comic precision with which the actors represent a new bride's fears, the benedict's reactions, of the unknown: "You hate my hat!" "No I don't!" "You think I'm crazy!" It takes skill to bring this off so well.

Finally in Tennessee Williams' first staged play, "This Property Is Condemned," director Elaine Banks on creates a bitter-sweet situation that moves one deeply.

It's in Williams' decadent South, of course, and Lani Reynolds is a girl who learned too much too soon in her family's "boarding house," which now is condemned.

14,132 Watch Millikan Stun Lakewood, 34-26

By TOM BARDEEN

Millikan High—a heretofore third-place team—sprang the year's upset Friday night and turned the Moore League into a turmoil.

Millikan's Rams stood giant-size before 14,132 at Veterans Stadium and knocked down heavily favored Lakewood, 34-26, to set the stage for a league Frank Merriwell finish.

Millikan's victory placed the Rams in a tie for second with Lakewood (3-1) and only one game behind league-leading Wilson (4-0), a 34-0 winner over Jordan.

—Should Wilson win Friday against Lakewood, the Bruins will win the Moore crown.

—Should Lakewood and Millikan win, a three-way tie for first would develop. Millikan faces Poly Friday.

Millikan provided the game's deciding play Friday night late in the third quarter.

Trailing 34-20 in the final quarter, Lakewood quarterback Mike Rae unfurled a long pass to speedster Steve Gibson for 48 yards. Then Mike Parks, the second of three Lancer quarterbacks, threw 11 yards to Loren Campbell. Campbell went the remaining seven yards and a touchdown.

Lakewood needed the conversion point to gain a tie, but Millikan's defensive ace, John Taylor, leaped the line and blocked the ball before Bill Moody could kick.

The Lancer chances were broken — and Millikan controlled the ball in the waning moments.

Lakewood scored first at the game's outset, and appeared to be home free. Receiving the kickoff, the Lancers scored in the first four minutes on a 43-yard touchdown pass from Steve Bresnahan to end Don Richardson. The remainder of the quarter was a defensive bout.

Millikan took advantage of a Lakewood fumble early in the second quarter on the Lancer 15-yard line, and a one-yard plunge by quarterback Rand Rasmussen produced a TD and renewed the Rams' life.

Lakewood, with the ferocity of an angered bull, drove from the kickoff to Millikan's 11. Campbell ran into the end zone, but a penalty nullified the play. But another Campbell sweep was good for a touchdown.

Millikan's 13-7 lead was short-lived. The Rams recovered an inside kickoff on their own 49, and half-back Mike Liebeck, alternating with Russ Calderella, ran 51 yards for a TD. Taylor's kick made it 14-13.

The teams traded touchdowns again, and Lakewood held a 20-14 halftime lead.

Calderella and Liebeck were named co-backs of the game, compiling 234 yards and four touchdowns. Liebeck carried 20 times for 137 yards, while Calderella ran 16 times for 87 yards. Each scored twice.

Moore Lead to Wilson

By JOE BARANEK

General Ulysses S. Grant may have taken Richmond, but not the way Wilson took Jordan Friday night. The league-leading Bruins buried the Panthers, 34-0, while amassing 18 first downs and 353 net yards. Jordan could only counter on the Panther 15. It took only one play for Lobato to travel the required distance, bucking over left tackle.

Wilson came back after intermission and marched 72 yards in nine plays which culminated in Hoover's second touchdown, from two yards out. Burdge kept the march going with a 14-yard scrambling run, and Lobato clicked for an additional 24 yards.

Quarterback Burdge hit on six of 11 passes for 61 yards. The most telling pass was a 15-yard touchdown toss to end Chris Key early in the fourth period.

Substitute fullback Lynn Effinger scored the final with two first downs and 58 net yards.

Wilson's ground game controlled the tempo of the contest, with three Bruin back accounting for the majority of the night's 294 net yards. Halfback Dante Lobato—all 5-9, 160 pounds of him—churned for 146 yards on 17 carries, while fullback Rex Hoover chipped in with 64 yards in 19 carries. Quarterback Dick Burdge joined the tandem with 54 yards.

In the first quarter Wilson marched 80 yards in 14 plays to score on Hoover's one-yard plunge. Fernando Trinidad, an exchange student from Brazil, soccer-kicked the first of four PATs in a row.

Midway through the second quarter Wilson linebacker Wes Edwards recovered Steve Coker's fumble

Not only was it a rout on the field, but statistically the Bruins held a commanding edge. Wilson completed seven of 13 passes for 80 yards while Jordan could only connect on one of six attempts for a net seven yards.

Palmer Shoots 70, Leads by 4 Strokes in World Cup; U.S. Team 6 Shots Ahead

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — Arnold Palmer overcame the unruliness of his own army and the snail-like pace of his partner, Jack Nicklaus, Friday to grab a four-stroke lead at the halfway point of the World Cup international golf tournament with a 138 total.

Meanwhile, Palmer and Nicklaus combined to make the expected runaway for the United States in the team competition as they built up a six-stroke lead over Argentina in quest of America's seventh team title in the last eight years.

Palmer fired a two-under par 70 for his 138 while Nicklaus was also under par with a 71 for a 36-hole total of 143. That gave the

U.S. a two-day total of 281 while Argentina was second at 287 and Mexico third at 288. New Zealand at 289 and Hawaii at 290 rounded out the top five.

Nicklaus was in a three-way tie for third place with David Jimenez or Puerto Rico and Florentino Molina of Argentina. Hsieh Yung-Ho of Nationalist China came in with a 71 for second place with a 36-hole total of 142 on the Mexico Golf Club's 7,250-yard par 36-36-72 course.

It again took Palmer and Nicklaus five hours to play their 18-hole round and the fast-moving Palmer said it was "ridiculous" for the round to take that long. But Nicklaus, who usually plays very slowly, said the pace didn't bother him.

The reaction of the gallery was typical for a Palmer-Nicklaus pairing. The fans cheered Palmer on and didn't extend Nicklaus the normal courtesy. This finally caused Palmer on the 13th hole to turn to the gallery and yell, "Please, folks, please" while Nicklaus was trying to putt.

'Worst Defeat' for Georgia Tech, 49-7

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Big David Olivo became the complete quarterback Friday night and the Miami Hurricanes, flashing perfect offensive balance for the first time, smashed Georgia Tech 49-7 for their sixth straight victory.

It was the worst defeat pinned on Georgia Tech since Notre Dame defeated the Yellow Jackets 55-13 in 1943.

With Olivo throwing two touchdown passes and Miami's fleet sophomore half-back, Vince Opalski, stunning Tech with a 72-yard scoring burst off tackle, Miami rolled to a commanding 28-7 margin in the third period.

Two other quarterbacks, David Peal and Bill Miller, worked the last 29 minutes as Miami reserves completed the rout with three fourth-period touchdowns.

Olivo had made an unimpressive throwing record as Miami racked up five victories with a power running game and one of the nation's most rugged defenses. But in this game, Olivo became a passer, too, and the combination made a shambles of the Tech defense.

Olivo's passes to Jim Cox and the power running of Opalski, John Acuff and Doug McGee took Miami 75 yards to the first touchdown, scored by Acuff from one yard out.

Olivo made it 14-0 with a two-yard pass to Gerry Daanen.

Diablos Eager to Nip Cal State JRB Plans in Bud

By JIM McCORMACK

Cal State Los Angeles, a football team going nowhere, stops by Veterans Stadium tonight hoping to take Cal State Long Beach with it.

The diabolical Diablos could improve their season greatly by nipping Long Beach's Junior Rose Bowl hopes in the bud. Kickoff is at 8. The game will be carried by KNAC-FM.

Los Angeles, which has won just one of seven games, could have a great deal to say in the JRB selections. Next week the Diablos host another candidate, Valley State.

L.A. State has lost to Long Beach only twice in the 11-year history of the series and is in good position to claim its fifth series win in a row.

The 49ers spent an almost nonchalant week in practice, promising to redeem the school's name by beating Cal State L.A. tonight, but all the while they seemed more concerned about the JRB.

The Diablos caught Long Beach thinking about other things last year and handed the 49ers a surprise 17-13 defeat.

Los Angeles is a bewildering team—one that has caused 49er coach Don Reed great concern.

"They have excellent personnel. I can't understand why they have so much trouble scoring. I do know that if it is like years past, they will put it all together against us."

The Diablos have fine runners in fullback Paul Cotton and Jim Holland, who average 4.6 and 5.1 yards per carry, yet neither has scored.

During one stretch, Los Angeles, which has scored only four touchdowns all year, went 300 minutes without scoring.

Long Beach quarterback Dave Merrill, who has gained 400 yards more than the entire Cal State L.A. team himself, and his offensive teammates may be in for a long evening.

The Diablo defense has been outstanding all year, ranking second in the CCAA to San Diego State. Only the Aztecs have scored more than 19 points (28) against the Diablo defense.

Arlington State (Tex.) managed just 17. Parsons 19, powerful Weber State 13 and Fresno 14.

of his 15 races this year and a record $792,941, was a 4-5 favorite to turn back eight challengers from seven countries in the 1 1/2-mile race over a turf course even though he never has started on grass.

Willie Shoemaker, riding in the International for the fifth time and seeking his initial victory, rides Damascus for Mrs. Edith Bancroft. The 3-year-old has worked well over the turf in preparation for the race. Friday he breezed three furlongs in an impressive 35 second.

Ribocco, of England, probably the best horse in Europe this year, was second choice at 3-1. Fort Marcy, another American horse, Tobin Bronze of Australia, Casaque Grise of France, Chateaubriand of Venezuela, He's A Smoothie of Canada, In Command of England, and Speed Symbol of Japan complete the field.

None of them boast records as impressive as that of Damascus, and their owners and trainers are counting heavily on the fact that Damascus never has raced on turf.

The turf can make a difference in form. It took the great Kelso four tries before he caught a "hard" track and won the International. And only this year Buckpasser failed in the Bowling Green Handicap on the turf.

ABC Stable and Gas-twin's Fashion Tip, king of the Hollywood Park racing division during the first half of the meeting, scored a one-length victory Friday in the $15,000 Hospital Charity Fund Pace.

Driven by Jim Dennis, who enjoyed his biggest day of the season with a triple, Fashion Tip held off the closing rush of Castle Knight, who was three-quarters of a length ahead of Song Cycle.

Tempo Me Not uncorked a stretch charge that carried her to a three-quarter length victory in the Grey

Flight purse at Aqueduct. Tempo Me Not paid $9.40 to win, $5 to place and $3.60 to show. Fennel paid $4.20 to place and $2.80 to show and Encanta was $4.80 to show.

Cherrybrook opened up a daylight lead, but Francis Son scampered through on the rail and won the Stella Maris Purse at Garden State Park.

Francis Son was clocked in 1:12 and returned $38.80, $12.20 and $7.40. Cherrybrook was $5 and $4.40 and Rowdy Dowdy paid $4.40.

Withstanding a claim of foul, Kissing Bait won the feature at Laurel and paid $11, $6, and $4.60 after running six furlongs in 1:12 2-5 under Henry Block.

Lil Lar scored a 10-length victory in the Sportsman's Park $6,500 Can Trust Purse at Chicago.

Ridden by Bobby Nuno, Lil Lar was timed in 1:15 2-5 for the 6 1/2 furlongs and paid $15.40, $7.60 and $4.80.

Falcons Play Host to Bucs

The Cerritos College Falcons, winning their first Metropolitan Conference football game of the season last week, will face Santa Monica at Falcon Stadium tonight.

Against Rio Hondo last Saturday, Cerritos (1-4) regained some of its early-season form, moving the ball, passing and rushing. In its first four conference games, fumbles and interceptions hampered Cerritos.

Cerritos' inability to score more last week was due to its quarterbacks failing to find the open ends which, on many occasions, had outrun the Rio Hondo secondary by as much as 10 yards.

The Cerritos defense tightened up considerably last week. Safetyman Larry Diehl, who had been almost the only Falcon defense-man to cover receivers, began to get some help on long pass plays. Diehl made three tackles when Road-runners were in the clear and heading for a touchdown.

Against Santa Monica, Cerritos will face a high-scoring team which likes to pass. In five conference games this season, the Corsairs (3-2) have averaged almost 20 points per game.

There's No Doubt! Rams Need 'Own' Victory Over Colts

By AL LARSON

With six weeks remaining in the tense NFL Coastal Division race, it appears the Rams (5-1-2) can't depend on another team to hang a loss on the unbeaten Baltimore Colts. They'll have to do it themselves in the final regular-season meeting Dec. 17 at the Coliseum.

In between that time the Rams have only two more road games which gives them a slight schedule advantage. Starting Sunday when they meet Philadelphia, the Rams play four of the six games in the Coliseum.

Baltimore (6-0-2) leaves the confines of Memorial Stadium in three of its final six games, but two of the contests are against the Rams and San Francisco. The Colts also must tangle with Dallas in Baltimore.

The 49ers (5-3) have the worst of the schedule, facing Washington and Green Bay on the road in back-to-back assignments.

Here's the remaining schedule of the Coastal Division contenders:

Rams — Philadelphia, Sunday; at Atlanta, Nov. 19; at Detroit, Nov. 23 (Thanksgiving Day); Atlanta, Dec. 3; Green Bay, Dec. 9; Baltimore, Dec. 17.

Colts — At Atlanta, Sunday; Detroit, Nov. 19; at San Francisco, Nov. 26; Dallas Dec. 3; New Orleans, Dec. 10; at Rams, Dec. 17.

49ers — At Washington, Sunday; at Green Bay, Nov. 19; Baltimore, Nov. 26; Chicago Dec. 3; at Atlanta, Dec. 10; Dallas Dec. 16.

Maxie Baughan has Big Game fever. "I've been waiting for this chance ever since I joined the Rams two years ago. I spent six years with the Eagles. I feel almost like I did at Georgia Tech before our annual homecoming game," the veteran linebacker said.

A Ram victory would probably bring extra satisfaction, for Baughan had become disenchanted with Philadelphia and had asked to be traded.

Baughan has high regard for Eagle quarterback Norm Snead. "He's always had ability, but he didn't really develop it until he joined the Eagles. He's the biggest quarterback in the league except for our own Roman Gabriel.

"He stays in the pocket, he picks up the defenses well, and he's not afraid to run. He fights off the rush something like Gabe does. And don't forget, he's the No. 2 quarterback in the league statistically. We seem to catch a hot passer every week now."

Despite the 49ers' squawks about signal-jamming last Sunday, Baughan says he will continue to use plenty of defensive audibles against the Eagles.

"That's our system. We do it every week. I call an audible 60 to 70 per cent of the plays—sometimes I go as high as 80 and 90 per cent against teams with multiple offenses like Dallas."

"When a quarterback says something like 'set, red, 48' and runs a draw or screen, the next time he calls that signal I know what's coming and I'd be stupid not to call an audible to counteract it."

"This game has become a huge guessing contest between the quarterback and the defensive signal-caller. If I guess right, we look great; if I'm wrong I'm a bum. Many quarterbacks now call fake audibles at the line of scrimmage, so I have fakes of my own to call. It's no longer a game for beginners. Only experience makes a system like ours work."

Wilt The Stilt Hasn't Wilted as Lakers Will Attest Tonight

By DOUG IVES

The world-champion 76ers have the same personnel which ended Boston's dynasty last year, with Luke Jackson and Chet Walker flanking Wilt, Wally Jones and Hal Greer in the backcourt, and Billy Cunningham, Larry Costello and Matt Guokas in reserve.

The Lakers, averaging a meager 6.577 for four home dates, had announced West might play tonight in hopes of boosting attendance, but unless the situation is desperate (like another injury), Jerry will also miss the Sunday and Wednesday games against Chicago.

According to West, "I could play, but the risk of reinjury is greater than if I sat out another week." As it stands then, look for West to debut next Saturday.

His 13.8 average pales alongside his career mark of 37.6, but the man who has netted more than 20,000 points in his 10 years doesn't really care as long as his team is winning—and they have captured $8 out of 105 since Alex Hannum took over as coach.

"I'm more useful as a feeder," says Wilt, who 10 days ago attempted only one shot in 48 minutes against San Francisco. He fed 13 times, however, and the 76ers won easily.

Another crazy statistic is that Chamberlain leads the NBA in assists, with an average of 9.3. That makes him the No. 1 playmaker in the league ahead of Oscar Robertson and Guy Rodgers.

LONG BEACH'S CHANGING IMAGE

In 1965 the Independent Press-Telegram ran a series titled "Which Way, Long Beach?"—a candid words-and-picture study designed to open the eyes of city and citizenry to the encroachment of ugliness and apathy in the appearance and vitality of our public spaces.

But that was two years ago. The image is changing—and changing fast. This week Long Beach made national headlines as winner of Keep America Beautiful's annual achievement award for metropolitan cities.

But we've only just started. There's still much to be done. For a look at Long Beach's changing image, see Mary Ellis Carlton's article on page W-1 of the Women's Section Sunday.

That's no sailor—that's my mother!

The lure of the sea is compelling—beckoning to the young and old alike—don't resist it any longer; escape the humdrum routine of housewives and mothers... skip on down to the Long Beach Recreation Department's sailing class and put out to sea in an eight-foot yacht! See Southland Magazine next Sunday for further details.

"Mother Goose" Sold!

The saga of "Mother Goose" relates the sale of the famed Sikorsky, the nation's last four-engine flying boat, which has become a most familiar sight during the past nine years it has been winging its way back and forth to Catalina Island. Aerospace Editor Herb Shannon has the tale for Sunday Main News readers.
